

Did you know...

42% of guests will move on to another restaurant if they call and are sent to voicemail.

Stop sending revenue to voicemail with AI-powered phone answering.

Capture revenue from callers and handle your most frequently asked questions so staff can focus on higher-value tasks.

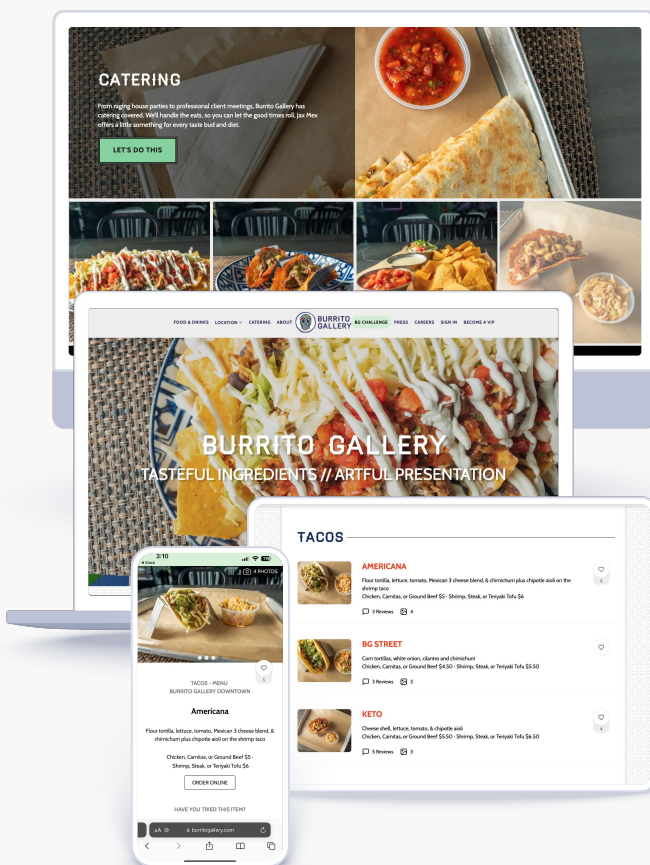

Text callers direct links to revenue-driving actions like reservations and online ordering.

Customize how you greet guests and respond to questions—so interactions still feel personal.

Ease pressure on your staff and let them upsell guests instead of rushing to a ringing phone.

"[Popmenu Answering] has saved about 104 hours of time. That's 104 hours that we've had someone doing something more impactful to the business than answering the phone and saying 'yes we're open until ten o'clock.'"
